

July Reflection

This month we celebrated NAIDOC WEEK with the children. the theme was "HEAL COUNTRY". It was a perfect opportunity for all of us to celebrate the history, culture and the achievements of the indigenous communities and all Australians. We worked together to make beautiful art pieces that are hanging in our room, played with some playdough using lots of natural materials from our yard whilst listening to some dream time stories and getting to make up some up of our own.

We have been developing a lot of their fine motor skills getting them to pick up small items, grasping, trying to manipulate them to fit through places like puzzles or the sorting caps, playdough, feeding themselves using their spoon, and it is evident as they are using those skills to draw on paper and holding onto the crayon and attempting to draw on paper.

They are slowly weaning into one sleep throughout the day giving us more time to learn and discover new interests.
